MEMORANDUM

TO: Deans, Directors, and Department Heads
FROM: Warwick A. Arden, Provost and Executive Vice Chancellor

SUBJECT: Required Title IX Training - Responsible Employees

Under Title IX, NC State must respond promptly and effectively to reports of sex discrimination, sexual harassment and sexual violence that occur either on or off campus in any of the university’s educational programs and activities. Once NC State receives a report, the university must take prompt and appropriate steps to investigate the incident, prevent the recurrence of any misconduct and address its effects.

Recent guidance from the U.S. Department of Education – Office for Civil Rights requires the university to identify “Responsible Employees.” These Responsible Employees are individuals who have authority to take action to redress the prohibited conduct; who have been given the duty of reporting incidents of sex discrimination, sexual harassment and sexual violence to the Title IX Coordinator; or whom a student could reasonably believe has this authority or duty. Responsible Employees must report allegations (and all relevant information disclosed about the incident), to NC State’s Title IX Coordinator. In addition, Responsible Employees must attend an approved training program that covers these Title IX obligations. NC State REG 04.25.06 has been revised to reflect this new training requirement.

If your position has been identified as one of NC State’s Responsible Employees [see next page], you must complete a Title IX approved training program on an annual basis. This year, the training will be delivered via in-person presentation facilitated jointly by the Office of Institutional Equity and Diversity (OIED) and the Office of General Counsel (OGC) from August to November. The dates, times, and locations for these trainings, and instructions on how to register for a session, are provided in the attachment. Those unable to attend the scheduled training may contact OIED regarding an alternative option. Completion of Responsible Employee training will be tracked to ensure compliance.

Responsible Employees who have also been designated by NC State as Campus Security Authorities (CSA) under the Clery Act will receive Responsible Employee Title IX training in conjunction with their annual CSA training.

Thank you for your assistance in continuing to make NC State a safe place to study, work and visit and one that is free of sex discrimination and harassment. If you have any questions regarding Title IX or its requirements, please contact one of NC State’s Title IX Officers or visit NC State’s Title IX website at http://oied.ncsu.edu/titleix/.
