Can You Read Me Now? Effective Communication at Work

Sponsored by UGSA and The Graduate School

Dr. Melissa Bostrom
25 October 2007
Today’s agenda

- Structuring your content
- Adapting your style
- Changing your tone
- Designing your documents
From: Becker, Bob [Carnival Cruise Lines]
Sent: Wednesday, February 18, 2004
Subject: No Popcorn

Attention all: I have nothing against Orville Redenbacher. The reason for no popcorn is that 60% of all fire alarms in office buildings are because some idiot let it burn in the microwave. Last night we had another incident........Based on our last 2 weeks, we have made anywhere from [removed] to [removed] bookings after 8 O'clock. Therefore this popcorn cost us between $[removed] and $[removed] that will not be recoverable. If you must have popcorn, buy it already made in a bag or a tin. If you have microwave popcorn at your desk you will be terminated............Period!

Thank you.

Bob Becker
Vice President
Consumer Research
1-800-xxx-xxxx Ext xxxxx
From: Xxxx, Dave
Sent: Wednesday, January 24, 2007 2:59 PM
To: Kenan-Flagler Students; Kenan-Flagler Faculty and Staff
Subject: Fire Alarms

On January 16, we had another fire alarm due to microwave popcorn being burned. This is the second such occasion over the past year and has created disruption across the school that we feel is completely avoidable. We experienced interrupted classes, interviews with recruiters cut short, inconvenienced employees and students etc. We cannot afford to risk future disruption to the school’s operations from this issue. Therefore, we are instituting a policy prohibiting the use of microwave popcorn throughout the school. We will be removing microwave popcorn from all vending machines and Café McColl in support of this policy. We realize this may seem like an extreme reaction to some but we’ve tested this direction with several constituencies and the bottom line is that we’re doing all we can to minimize future disruptions to the core mission of the school. In addition, we continue to receive feedback that microwaves are frequently left unattended when in use. If you’re cooking anything in a microwave you should never leave it unattended. Thank you for your cooperation. Regards, Dave.
Today’s agenda

✓ Structuring your content
  ▪ Adapting your style
  ▪ Changing your tone
  ▪ Designing your documents
On January 16, we had another fire alarm due to microwave popcorn being burned. This is the second such occasion over the past year and has created disruption across the school that we feel is completely avoidable. We experienced interrupted classes, interviews with recruiters cut short, inconvenienced employees and students etc. We cannot afford to risk future disruption to the school’s operations from this issue. Therefore, we are instituting a policy prohibiting the use of microwave popcorn throughout the school. We will be removing microwave popcorn from all vending machines and Café McColl in support of this policy. We realize this may seem like an extreme reaction to some but we’ve tested this direction with several constituencies and the bottom line is that we’re doing all we can to minimize future disruptions to the core mission of the school. In addition, we continue to receive feedback that microwaves are frequently left unattended when in use. If you’re cooking anything in a microwave you should never leave it unattended. Thank you for your cooperation. Regards, Dave.
On January 16, we had another fire alarm due to microwave popcorn being burned. This is the second such occasion over the past year and has created disruption across the school that we feel is completely avoidable. We experienced interrupted classes, interviews with recruiters cut short, inconvenienced employees and students etc. We cannot afford to risk future disruption to the school’s operations from this issue. Therefore, we are instituting a policy prohibiting the use of microwave popcorn throughout the school. We will be removing microwave popcorn from all vending machines and Café McColl in support of this policy. We realize this may seem like an extreme reaction to some but we’ve tested this direction with several constituencies and the bottom line is that we’re doing all we can to minimize future disruptions to the core mission of the school. In addition, we continue to receive feedback that microwaves are frequently left unattended when in use. If you’re cooking anything in a microwave you should never leave it unattended. Thank you for your cooperation. Regards, Dave.
On January 16, we had another fire alarm due to microwave popcorn being burned. This is the second such occasion over the past year and has created disruption across the school. We experienced interrupted classes, interviews with recruiters cut short, inconvenienced employees and students etc. We cannot afford to risk future disruptions to the school’s operations from this issue.

Therefore, we are instituting a policy prohibiting the use of microwave popcorn throughout the school. We will be removing microwave popcorn from all vending machines and Café McColl in support of this policy. We realize this may seem like an extreme reaction to some but we’ve tested this direction with several constituencies and the bottom line is that we’re doing all we can to minimize future disruptions to the core mission of the school. In addition, we continue to receive feedback that microwaves are frequently left unattended when in use. If you’re cooking anything in a microwave, you should never leave it unattended. Thank you for your cooperation.

Regards,
Dave.
From: Xxxx, Dave
Sent: Wednesday, January 24, 2007 2:59 PM
To: Kenan-Flagler Students; Kenan-Flagler Faculty and Staff
Subject: Fire Alarms

On January 16, we had another fire alarm due to microwave popcorn being burned. This is the second such occasion over the past year and has created disruption across the school that we feel is completely avoidable. We experienced interrupted classes, interviews with recruiters cut short, inconvenienced employees and students etc. We cannot afford to risk future disruption to the school’s operations from this issue. Therefore, we are instituting a policy prohibiting the use of microwave popcorn throughout the school. We will be removing microwave popcorn from all vending machines and Café McColl to support this policy. We realize this may seem like an extreme reaction to some but we’ve tested this direction with several constituencies and the bottom line is that we’re doing all we can to minimize future disruptions to the core mission of the school. In addition, we continue to receive feedback that microwaves are frequently left unattended when in use. If you’re cooking anything in a microwave you should never leave it unattended. Thank you for your cooperation. Regards, Dave.
From: Xxxx, Dave
Sent: Wednesday, January 24, 2007 2:59 PM
To: Kenan-Flagler Students; Kenan-Flagler Faculty and Staff
Subject: Fire Alarms

On January 16, we had another fire alarm due to microwave popcorn being burned. This is the second such occasion over the past year and has created disruption across the school that we feel is completely avoidable. We experienced interrupted classes, interviews with recruiters cut short, inconvenienced employees and students etc. We cannot afford to risk future disruption to the school’s operations from this issue. Therefore, we are instituting a policy prohibiting the use of microwave popcorn throughout the school.

We will be removing microwave popcorn from all vending machines and Café McColl in support of this policy. We realize this may seem like an extreme reaction to some but we’ve tested this direction with several constituencies and the bottom line is that we’re doing all we can to minimize future disruptions to the core mission of the school. In addition, we continue to receive feedback that microwaves are frequently left unattended when in use. If you’re cooking anything in a microwave you should never leave it unattended.

Thank you for your cooperation.

Regards,

Dave.
On January 16, we had another fire alarm due to microwave popcorn being burned. This is the second such occasion over the past year and has created disruption across the school that we feel is completely avoidable. We experienced interrupted classes, interviews with recruiters cut short, inconvenienced employees and students etc. We cannot afford to risk future disruption to the school’s operations from this issue. Therefore, we are instituting a policy prohibiting the use of microwave popcorn throughout the school. We will be removing microwave popcorn from all vending machines and Café McColl in support of this policy. We realize this may seem like an extreme reaction to some but we’ve tested this direction with several constituencies and the bottom line is that we’re doing all we can to minimize further disruptions to the core mission of the school. In addition, we continue to receive feedback that microwaves are frequently left unattended when in use. If you’re cooking anything in a microwave you should never leave it unattended. Thank you for your cooperation. Regards, Dave.
On January 16, we had another fire alarm due to microwave popcorn being burned. This is the second such occasion over the past year and has created disruption across the school that we feel is completely avoidable. We experienced interrupted classes, interviews with recruiters cut short, inconvenienced employees and students etc. We cannot afford to risk future disruption to the school’s operations from this issue. Therefore, we are instituting a policy prohibiting the use of microwave popcorn throughout the school. We will be removing microwave popcorn from all vending machines and Café McColl in support of this policy. We realize this may seem like an extreme reaction to some but we’ve tested this direction with several constituencies and the bottom line is that we’re doing all we can to minimize future disruptions to the core mission of the school. In addition, we continue to receive feedback that microwaves are frequently left unaudited when unattended. If you’re cooking anything in a microwave, you should never leave it unattended. Thank you for your cooperation. Regards, Dave.
Structure revisions

- Subject line
- Bottom line
- Reasons (1 paragraph or less)
- Details (1 paragraph or less)
- Forward-looking closing
- Signature and contact info
Today’s agenda

- Structuring your content
- Adapting your style
- Changing your tone
- Designing your documents
Attention all: I have nothing against Orville Redenbacher. The reason for no popcorn is that 60% of all fire alarms in office buildings are because some idiot let it burn in the microwave. Last night we had another incident........Based on our last 2 weeks, we have made anywhere from [removed] to [removed] bookings after 8 O'clock. Therefore this popcorn cost us between $[removed] and $[removed] that will not be recoverable. If you must have popcorn, buy it already made in a bag or a tin. If you have microwave popcorn at your desk you will be terminated...........Period! Thank you.

Passive voice
Passive voice examples

- The smoke was smelled...[by whom?]
- The fire department was called by an alert staff member...
- The popcorn was made...[by whom?]
On January 16, we had another fire alarm due to microwave popcorn being burned. This is the second such occasion over the past year and has created disruption across the school that we feel is completely avoidable. We experienced interrupted classes, interviews with recruiters cut short, inconvenienced employees and students etc. We cannot afford to risk future disruption to the school’s operations from this issue. Therefore, we are instituting a policy prohibiting the use of microwave popcorn throughout the school. We will be removing microwave popcorn from all vending machines and Café McColl in support of this policy. We realize this may seem like an extreme reaction to some but we’ve tested this direction with several constituencies and the bottom line is that we’re doing all we can to minimize future disruptions to the core mission of the school. In addition, we continue to receive feedback that microwaves are frequently left unattended when in use. If you’re cooking anything in a microwave you should never leave it unattended. Thank you for your cooperation. Regards, Dave.
Style: False subjects

- "We must ban popcorn..."
- "I've learned that two fire alarms..."
- "We don't need for disruptions..."
- "We offer plenty of other snacks in the vending machine."
From: Xxxx, Dave
Sent: Wednesday, January 24, 2007 2:59 PM
To: Kenan-Flagler Students; Kenan-Flagler Faculty and Staff
Subject: Fire Alarms

On January 16, we had another fire alarm due to microwave popcorn being burned. This is the second such occasion over the past year and has created disruption across the school that we feel is completely avoidable. We experienced interrupted classes, interviews with recruiters cut short, inconvenienced employees and students etc. We cannot afford to risk future disruption to the school’s operations from this issue. Therefore, we are instituting a policy prohibiting the use of microwave popcorn throughout the school. We will be removing microwave popcorn from all vending machines and Café McColl in support of this policy. We realize this may seem like an extreme reaction to some but we’ve tested this direction with several constituencies and the bottom line is that we’re doing all we can to minimize future disruptions to the core mission of the school. In addition, we continue to receive feedback that microwaves are frequently left unattended when in use. If you’re cooking anything in a microwave you should never leave it unattended. Thank you for your cooperation. Regards, Dave.
On January 16, we had another fire alarm due to microwave popcorn being burned. This is the second such occasion over the past year and has created disruption across the school that we feel is completely avoidable. We experienced interrupted classes, interviews with recruiters cut short, inconvenienced employees and students etc. We cannot afford to risk future disruption to the school’s operations from this issue. Therefore, we are instituting a policy prohibiting the use of microwave popcorn throughout the school. We will be removing microwave popcorn from all vending machines and Café McColl in support of this policy. We realize this may seem like an extreme reaction to some but we’ve tested this direction with several constituencies and the bottom line is that we’re doing all we can to minimize future disruptions to the core mission of the school. In addition, we continue to receive feedback that microwaves are frequently left unattended when in use. If you’re cooking anything in a microwave you should never leave it unattended. Thank you for your cooperation. Regards, Dave.
Today’s agenda

- Structuring your content
- Adapting your style
- Changing your tone
- Designing your documents
Tone take-aways

- Use pronouns
- Use contractions
- Strive to transfer a conversational sound to the page
Today’s agenda

- Structuring your content
- Adapting your style
- Changing your tone
- Designing your documents
Sans serif vs. serif fonts

• Sans serif for body text of electronic documents
• Serif for body text of print documents
Design: Headings

- Label document’s parts
- Show readers where to find information
- Describe the contents well
Design: Good headings

- Keep more space above than below
- “Pop” off the page in a bold sans serif font
- May demonstrate “you attitude” by appealing to the reader directly (e.g., asking a question)
Design: Whitespace

- UNC home page
- At least 1” margin on all sides
- 10-point font for readability
Typeface enhancements

- Bold items “pop” off the page
- Italicized items “pop” from the paragraph
- Underlining looks like a hyperlink
- ALL CAPITAL LETTERS LOOK LIKE SHOUTING!
Questions?
Evaluations

- Please complete and return to back table
- You’ll help us plan for future seminars!