Look back at the information you have learned in Mission 5 and write a report to Commander Spud Goodroot answering the following questions:

1. What do you think is the greatest benefit of taking plants into space?

2. What are the pros and cons of each crop you selected to research?

3. After learning more about the three plants you selected, do you think they would be good choices for the first crops to grow on the Moon? Why or why not? Record your thoughts in your Agronaut Log.
